YOUR ADVENTURE

Ketchikan

While cruising Alaska is an experience in the wilds, it will leave you at peace having experienced the raw and rugged wilderness from the comfort of an intimate and luxurious ship. Quiet your mind as you traverse Icy Strait Point and you might hear the call of humpback whales before they breach the surface. Feel the tranquillity all around as you kayak the peaceful waters of Clover Pass in search of the majestic bald eagles that nest and hunt in Tongass National Forest. Connect with the stories and heritage of years past in classic Pacific Northwest cities such as Astoria and Victoria. Cruising Hubbard Glacier, the weight of the world shrinks as you behold the awesome power of water and ice, and the song and dance of native cultures are other powerful reminders to celebrate and honour the world in which we live.

ASTORIA

Astoria combines brisk beaches with dainty Victorian homes and melds trendy downtown bistros with a working-class fisherman's sensibility. This charming destination just inside the mouth of the Columbia River is a great spot to shop, stroll, enjoy fresh seafood and learn the compelling history of the Pacific Northwest.

HAINES

The small community of Haines, Alaska, sits in the middle of a skinny finger of land that borders the Lynn Canal, one of the deepest and longest fjords in the world. First settled by Tlingit Indians, Haines is filled with totem poles and fascinating artefacts. But majestic nature is Haines' chief draw – brown bears, moose and bald eagles are plentiful.

ICY STRAIT POINT

Designed to welcome visitors to this remote area, Icy Strait Point offers ample opportunities to explore the unspoiled wilderness all around. The surrounding waters are home to Alaska's largest population of humpback whales and more adventures await on Chichagof Island, in the Spasski River Valley and the Tlingit settlement of Hoonah.

KODIAK

The tiny village of Kodiak clings to the “Emerald Isle” of Kodiak, which is known for its breathtaking natural beauty. Each summer the island is a mosaic of picturesque flora, including wildflowers, moss-laden spruce, Pacific red elder, and blueberries, which the brown bears feast on. You may also spot puffins, red foxes and killer whales.

NANAIMO

Nanaimo is the second largest city on Vancouver Island, but is a classic West Coast community so it feels more like a large town. Part of gorgeous British Columbia, Nanaimo makes you want to spend at least some of your time outdoors, whether on a boat touring the stunning coastline or on an easy hike on Newcastle Island. Here you can walk a relaxed three- or six-mile loop on Bates Trail, where you may see blue herons, otters and even whales offshore.

PRINCE RUPERT

Prince Rupert sits on the very edge of British Columbia's wild and beautiful coastline. The majority of its attractions revolve around the outdoors, such as sport fishing, the Khutzeymateen Grizzly Sanctuary or a walking tour of the bonsai-like forest at Oliver Lake. Wildlife abounds, including bears, mountain goats, bald eagles, harbour seals and a variety of migrating whales.

SEWARD

Thanks to a quaint harbour with snowy mountains in the background and the stunning Kenai Fjords National Park nearby, the welcoming town of Seward is a complete beauty. And it has a good heart as the home of organisations like the Alaska SeaLife Center, which advocates for the health and well-being of the area's marine life. Seward also knows how to cook – you will find several excellent restaurants serving fresh oysters, king crab, salmon and more.

SITKA

Sitka is a fabulous place to get a feel for all that Southeast Alaska offers – history, culture and abundant natural beauty. Learn about the city’s Russian and Tlingit heritage at the Sitka History Museum and Baranof Castle State Historic Site. Opportunities to observe the local wildlife also abound. Visit the Alaska Raptor Center, cruise Sitka Sound or go hiking in Tongass National Forest.

WRANGELL

Once a Tlingit Indian stronghold, then a Russian outpost and finally an American settlement in 1867, Wrangell has endured dramatic change and honours it. Visit a preserved tribal house on Chief Shakes Island, hike Mount Dewey for stunning views or discover ancient etchings of salmon, whales and human faces at Petroglyph Beach State Historic Site.
